ORCHARDIST GIVES A DEMONSTRATION

P. T. Barnes of State Department Instructs How to Spray Trees

Wednesday afternoon P. T. Barnes gave a fruit spraying demonstration and lecture at the orchard of Dr. J. K Smith near Charleroi. A number of Charleroi people attended. Several subjects were touched upon.

The first part of the demonstration concerned the spraying of trees to prevent their being wormy. The formula given was: 1 pound dry arsenate of lead, 1 gallon concentrated lime sulphur wash in 40 gallons of water. The formula must be used while the tree is in blossom.

Another subject touched upon was spraying peaches and plums for arc curcules, a worm, the formula given being 2 pounds of arsenate of lead in 50 gallons of water. As soon as the husks drop spraying should be done and then repeated in two weeks. To the second spray should be added one and one third quarts of concentrated lime sulphur wash.

Arsenate of lead was recommended to be used in all cases in place of Paris green. It will not burn the plant, while Paris green will. The arsenate of lead sticks, while the Paris green will wash off.

Mr Barnes told how the peach tree borer has been removed from many trees and how it can be kept out. This is by spraying once a month from June 1 to September 1 with concentrated lime sulphur diluted one part to nine parts of water adding one ounce of arsenate of lead to each gallon of spray material. This has been found to be only about one-tenth as costly as digging out with a knife.

NEW PLANT BEING BUILT AT NEWELL

General Chemical Company Constructing Muriatic Acid Manufactory

WILL COST $250,000

Work has been started on the construction of a new plant for the General Chemical company at Newell that will be used in the manufacture of muriatic acid. It will be the fourth plant to be erected there and will cost approximately $250,000 bringing the total valuation of the Newell holdings of the company up to $2,000,000 or more.

The new muriatic acid plant will occupy a space about 100 by 250 feet. The building will take but a comparatively short time to erect, but the plant will hardly be in shape for operation before the first of next year, owing to the lot of valuable machinery that has to be installed. Installing this machinery is slow work.

Three kinds of acid mostly used in steel manufacture are now manufactured at the General Chemical company's Newell plant, hydrofluoric acid, sulphuric acid and sand acid. About 300 men are employed The muriatic acid that will be made in the new plant will have a ready demand for use in the manufacture of glass, particularly for plate glass.

The Newell plant of the General Chemical company is the most important east of St. Louis. F. W. Lovejoy is the superintendent of the plant.

RIGHTEOUS WAR ON COLLARS.

A league has been formed in France to emancipate man from the starched collar—that instrument of sartorial torture which, as one of the leaders of the league puts it, imprisons our Adam's apple, says the Philadelphia Press. Once again France points the way to freedom. Is there a man anywhere in Christendom who will not hope that this cause may prosper?

Time was when men at the most stately functions and on the most ceremonious occasions dressed comfortably and becomingly. In the days of Beau Brummel women might in the exercise of their divine right resolve to go corseted, but man refused to confine any part of him in anything that chafed. He wore many colors; he wore knee breeches—buckles on his shoes and lace at his neck and his wrists, but never did he look any the less a man than he has looked since what grace he had was condemned to be disguised in the habiliments that have for the better part of a century made him an eyesore to all artists and a prey to those twin tyrants—the collar makers of Troy and the laundrymen of all the world.

Back to comfort and back to grace. Surely this is the final step in a movement that has been subtly, slowly but surely gathering headway for the last ten years. Increasing interest in life out of doors—in devotion to all sorts of sports and exercise—has helped it. The informality of country life, now in these days of the motorcar within the reach of so many more people that in the old days had to live so much nearer their places of business and of work has helped it. A man may now even wear a soft-bosomed dress shirt at dinner and still retain his membership in his club and the respect of his fellow-man. Surely, we repeat, it is not too much to hope, thanks to France and to Anatole France, that the day when a man shall shake off the steam-laundry's badge of servitude frim his excoriated neck is at last at hand.

GETTING UP EARLY

There is a positive joy in early rising these spring days that the lay-abed-sleepy-head does not know, says the Monessen News. It requires considerable courage to arise with the sun when the opportunity is there to turn over for another nap, but if the experiment is tried two or three mornings in succession it is more than likely to become a habit, and a very excellent and profitable habit at that.

There are so many opportunities for fresh, clear thought in the quiet hour before the community has shaken off its bedclothes that do not come in the later hours that the brain-worker will find the time robbed from his couch well worth while and very probably the most productive of the whole day. And everything is so fresh and dewey with promise that one gets unconsciously a more optimistic angle of vision than if he tumbles out of bed with just enough time for a hasty toilet, a hurried bite of breakfast and a dash for the car.

Try it for three days and see for yourself.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

The Towson, Md., Union News announces it is going to "spel in the old wa," after giving vent to the following bit of sarcasm:

Ther cam to this offis the uther da a pamflet concerning simplifid spelling, and to tel the truth, it is the funiest thing that we hav seen for a long tim. It gives 31 ruls for betering our langwage, and ech wun of them is funier than the wun befor it We showed it to the Linotip man and he sed that a few mor pamflets lik that wud mak him so nervus that he cud not atend to his job properly. Ir fakt, he sed it wud giv him the "wullies" to wurk on such hiroglifics. What the editur sed wud have to be simplified a hol lot before it cud be publisht here, and on the hol, it is saf to predikt that we wil kontinu to be old fashuned.

Just as the climax in a tragedical photoplay drama was reached at a local theatre the other night, the boys in the front row began to writhe. It was so exciting they could not keep still. The hero was getting into deep water, owing to the enveloping circumstances of fate, and the boys didn't like that.

One boy sat back a few seats with his mother. The drama progressed to a point where the hero was being falsely accused and was about to be made to suffer. Just as the skies were seemingly about to fall on his luckless head, the boy in his anxiety yelled:

"Ha, you he didn't do it." Then realizing what he had done he sneaked out.

ROAD SPARKS

(By Chairman of Press Committee.)

The advertising had been placed in charge of Councilman Hormell, when in Popped Calvert, these two looked good, but they thought they had better Add Spencer.

Attorney Fergus wore his working badge only a half day. Someone asked why and Hugh replied he did not think he would be able to hold out for more than a half day.

The Commissary department has issued an order that all workers will be expected to bring along their own lunch, so in order to avoid any misunderstanding Bob Vetter has arranged with McPeck to bring out his lunch wagon.

Jack Rickey chairman of the tool committee has placed an order with the Hussey-Binns Co. for a supply of left hand shovels. This work will have the direct supervision of Supt. Haines. This will require some additional expense, but the committee feels they will be more than repaid by the additional work that will be accomplished by John Jenkins, Carl Wertz and somemore of the port siders.

Ewing Todd has been blowing around that he was going to drive a team so when John Majors found this out he proceeded to make some inquiry as to Ewing's experience, and this is the result of the investigation: Ewing Todd has assisted with the loading and unloading of every circus, wild west and carnival that has exhibited in Charleroi and the immediate vicinity for the past five years, and should know something about horses. This has been vouched for by Pierce Ferguson who has had considerable experience along this same line and would make a good driver.

Charlie Weltner has placed an order for two barrels of arnica and a few gross of Sloan's linement. This material is not to be used on the roads, but may be very much in demand by the workers on the morning of the 27th.

Roland Brown got sore because he was not appointed on any of the committees so in order not to have any ill feeling Chef Tussing has used his influence to have him placed as a waterboy in the commissary department he will be under Ex-Burgess Risbeck who is in charge of the waterboys for this department.

Bobby Coyle, King of the Movies has arranged to have a motion picture made of the entire day's operation. This picture should prove both popular and valuable as it will no doubt expose some of our foremost citizens in the act of working, something some of them have never been accused of before.

Tom Hastings has been appointed official weather prophet, but if Tom can't furnish any better weather on this day for a thank you job, than he did this time last summer for some of his own work, we will have some weather.

CHARLEROI MAGICS TAKE FIRST GAME

Steenberg Pitches Five Hit Contest at McKeesport and Teammates Play Good Ball at Opening of League Season

Charleroi bested the McKeesport Braves at McKeesport on Wednesday in the opening game of the Magics in the Pennsylvania West Virginia league. The score was 8 to 2.

The team played in great style, Manager O'Day directing proceedings from second base. Charleroi has on its batting clothes, and the way they hammered those McKeesport pitchers was awful.

The honor of hurling the first ball at McKesport went to George H. Lysle, aged 12 years, the son of Mayor Lysle of McKeesport.

Steenberg pitched fine ball for Charleroi allowing but five hits. The Magics play at McKeesport again this afternoon and tomorrow will come home for their first game here. Score:

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED AT BROWNSVILLE

The engagement of Miss Fannie Bond Smith of Brownsville to Leroy Playford Honsaker of Charleroi was announced at a meeting of the Junior Philathea class of the Methodist Episcopal church at South Brownsville Tuesday evening.

A large table was arranged in the class room. Covers were laid for 35. The color scheme was pink and white and the center piece was a large basket of American Beauty roses. The engagement was announced in a very clever manner by means of place cards, each one illustrating an incident in the life of the bride-elect. The cards were read in order by the guests. Tiny white doves bearing wedding rings were given as favors. The wedding will take place in June.

The affair was planned by Mrs. Edgar W. Coldren, a sister of the bride-elect and Mrs. W. S. Bouton, teacher of the class, and was a complete surprise to the girls.

Miss Smith is the daughter of Mrs Ashbel Smith and is one of Brownsville's popular young women

Mr. Honsaker is the son of W. S. Honsaker of Uniontown and is connected with S. L. Woodward furniture store.

In addition to the members of the class the guest list included Mrs Ashbel Smith. Mrs. Edgar W. Coldren, Mrs. George R. Smith and Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Moore.
